Bachelor of Nutrition and Dietetics	Bachelor of Nutrition Science (Scholars Program) – with options to pursue Dieticians Association of Australia (DAA) accredited courses as described below. Monash has developed a new two-year Master of Dietetics. The process for full Dieticians Association of Australian accreditation has begun but it is a rigorous and lengthy process, not expected to be completed until 2017. The aim is to achieve accreditation prior to graduation of the first cohort of Scholars. Students admitted to the Bachelor of Nutrition Science (Scholars Program) will have the following potential outcomes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Immediate enrolment as Scholars in the Bachelor of Nutrition Science. If the Masters of Dietetics is accredited by the DAA by the end of 2017, Scholars who complete the Bachelor of Nutrition Science with an average grade of credit or above are guaranteed entry into the Master of Dietetics in 2019 (supported by CSP or equivalent) with unit credits that mean the Masters may be completed in 1.5 years full time. Graduates of this combined 4.5-year program will be awarded a Bachelor of Nutrition Science (Scholars Program) and the DAA accredited Master of Dietetics. ■ If the Master of Dietetics is not accredited by the DAA by the end of 2017, Scholars will be transferred to the third year of Bachelor of Nutrition and Dietetics, a four-year DAA accredited course, at the end of 2017. Graduates of this four-year program will be awarded the DAA accredited Bachelor of Nutrition and Dietetics (Honours). Students who do not qualify for the Scholars' Program may be offered admission to the Bachelor of Nutrition Science and, as graduates will still be eligible to compete for entry into the 1.5 year Masters in Dietetics.
